MD. INDADUL MATUBBAR

JUNIOR NETWORK ENGINEER

Savar, Dhaka, Bangladesh | heroxatp@gmail.com | GitHub | LinkedIn | Portfolio

SUMMARY

Computer Science and Technology diploma student with a cybersecurity background who is now building a career in networking. I have hands-on practice with Cisco IOS, VLANs, OSPF and subnetting in lab environments, and I am currently doing an industrial attachment at an ISP. My security work gives me a good feel for how traffic behaves on the wire and where networks tend to break. I am looking for a junior network engineer role where I can keep learning and be useful from the start.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Networking Industrial Attachment, Race Online, Dhaka Oct 2026 - Present

- Working with the network team at Khawaja Tower, Mohakhali C/A, to learn how an ISP network is run day to day.
- Getting hands-on exposure to routing, switching and link troubleshooting on live infrastructure.

Bug Hunter, HackerOne 2025 - Present

- Test web and mobile applications for security flaws and report valid findings through HackerOne programs.
- Write up each issue with clear reproduction steps and impact so the triage team can act on it quickly.

PROJECTS

VLAN & OSPF Network Design (Cisco lab) GitHub

- Built a Cisco lab with VLAN 10 and VLAN 20, 802.1Q trunking, and Router-on-a-Stick using router sub-interfaces.
- Set up point-to-point links and OSPF Area 0, then verified routing tables and end-to-end connectivity.
- Tracked down and fixed connectivity problems, and documented the topology, IP plan, configs and test results.

Advanced IPv4 Subnet Calculator Live Demo

- Built a web-based IPv4 subnet calculator and published it on GitHub Pages for anyone to use.
